Custodial history

Candace Parker originally gave the material to Frances Wasserlein to use for her thesis with the understanding that the material would eventually be donated to an archives.

Scope and content

In 1970 Candace Parker was a member of the Vancouver Women's Caucus and a graduate student at the University of British Columbia. For a sociology class, Parker and Sibylle Klein wrote an essay, "Developing An Ideology: the Feminist Movement in North America," which drew upon Parker's experiences in Women's Caucus. Candace Parker was also interviewed by Frances Wasserlein and the transcript of that interview is contained in the Frances Wasserlein fonds, F-162.

The collection consists of research material collected by Candace Parker in the course of preparing her essay plus some additional feminist literature acquired afterwards. Includes notes and drafts, news clippings, reprints, broadsheets, position papers, briefs, newsletters, and newspapers.

Notes

Title notes

- Source of title proper: The title is based on the contents of the collection.

Immediate source of acquisition

Acquired from Frances Wasserlein. Donated to the SFU Archives by Candace Parker in 2001.

Arrangement

The materials were arranged by the archivist. The original arrangement (2001) had no series; files were arranged alphabetically, items (newspapers) chronologically. In 2012, the archivist created separate series for the subject files (retained in alphabetical order) and for the newspapers, with a file created for each newspaper title.

Restrictions on access

The files are open with no restrictions.

Finding aids

Biographical information on Candace Parker is available in the appendices to the hardcopy finding aid available in the Archives reading room.

Related material
