Administrative history / Biographical sketch

Note

The Peak, Simon Fraser University's student newspaper, began from a merger of two earlier student publications: The Tartan, which appeared on September 17, 1965, and The SF View, first published on October 4 of that year. The editorial teams from both newspapers produced an October 13 edition with the headline "Name Your Student Newspaper." One week later, the first issue of The Peak appeared.

The Peak had several notable achievements early in its history. When it joined Canadian University Press at its 28th conference in December 1965, The Peak became the first student newspaper to be accepted to CUP as a full member after such a short existence. One year later, on December 15, 1966, the Peak Publications Society became incorporated under the Societies Act of British Columbia. The Peak thereby became the first student newspaper in Canada to be incorporated.

From its inception, the Peak Publications Society has been governed by a Board of Directors. As of 1999, the Board includes three at-large representatives elected in a general election, one alumni representative appointed by the Alumni Association, two representatives from the Peak collective, and one representative from the Peak employees. The Board sets financial policy.

In the early years of The Peak, a group of editors and writers, carried out the production of the newspaper. For a period of time in the 1970s and 1980s individually named editors and staff were replaced by an anonymous collective. The Peak is currently produced by a Collective, which makes editorial decision through consensus and elects editors and area coordinators. The Collective is made up of all of The Peak's permanent employees and any student who has participated in two of the last five issues of the paper. The Peak newspaper has always been the main product of the Peak Publications Society although the Society has issued other publications such as the Terminal City Express, the Peak Student Handbook and, most recently, The Tartan magazine. The magazine, which bears the name of the former student newspaper, published its first issue in the fall of 2015.

Housed for many years in portable trailers The Peak received new office space in the Maggie Benston Student Services Centre in 1994. The Peak Publications Society was also long dependent on the Simon Fraser Student Society for funding. The University collected money from students and disbursed the funds to the SFSS, which then forwarded the money to the Peak under contractual agreement. The Peak gained a greater measure of freedom and financial autonomy following a student referendum on March 24, 1995. As a result of the voting, all students automatically became members of the Peak Publications Society rather than just those students who signed the Society Membership Register. The referendum guaranteed that the University would collect a subscription fee paid by the students and pass it to The Peak directly. Peak Office space was also guaranteed in the referendum.

Notes

Title notes

- Source of title proper: The title is based on the name of the creating body.

Immediate source of acquisition

The majority of the records were transferred to the Archives from the Society. Some material was added by the archivist.

Arrangement

The material was arranged by the Archivist. In January 2006 an item level arrangement was completed for the photographic contact sheets and microfilm reels.

Restrictions on access

Some files may contain personal or confidential information. Access to these files may be restricted as stipulated by Archives policy or the donor. Files marked 'pending review' must be reviewed by an archivist prior to release, and as a result of the review access restrictions may apply. Please see the file lists and consult the archivist for more details.

Copyright restrictions apply and are administered by the Peak Publications Society. Some files are restricted because they contain student numbers.

Because of the fragile nature of the early bound editions of The Peak, researchers wishing to access issues of The Peak older than ten years must use the microfilm copy. The latest years of The Peak are also available on The Peak's web site: <http://www.peak.sfu.ca>.

Conditions governing use

Records include materials that are protected by copyright, and copyright belongs to third parties (not SFU). Researchers may request copies or download copies (when available online) for purposes of private study, research, or other use permitted under fair dealing as set out in the Canada Copyright Act. Use of copies for any other purpose requires the copyright owner's permission.

Item-level descriptions may provide more detail. Consult the Reference Archivist for more information relating to determination of copyright ownership, term of protection, and how to contact copyright owners for permissions.

Finding aids

Series, file and item lists are available. A photographic index exists for pre-1987 materials and was prepared by the Archives Department, however please note that the index was not prepared using subject or name authorities so the indexing terms are not consistent. The index is available with other Finding Aids.

A name and subject card index is also available and can be used as a reference for publications between 1965 and 1969. This card index is located in the Archives Reading Room.

Series descriptions

Series F-17-1: Photographs

Date: 1965-1991 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

Series consists of photographic materials created by Peak journalists and photographers in the course of publishing the student newspaper. Photos depict SFU students, faculty, staff and administrators in a variety of settings, as well as the physical environment and grounds of the university. Record types comprise contact sheets, prints, and negatives.

The series has been arranged into one sub-series. Future accruals may be organized into new sub-series, depending on format or the ways in which they were maintained by The Peak:

- Contacts sheets and negatives (sub-series 1-1)

Access points:

- Photographic material (documentary form)
- Records in electronic form (digitized) (documentary form)

Arrangement:

In the initial arrangement of the fonds in 1999, contact sheets and negatives were physically housed in file folders and registered as files under this series (F-17-1). In 2022, the Archives reorganized the series. It created a new sub-series (F-17-1-1) for the contact sheets and negatives, with sub-sub-series by year. This arrangement leaves open the possibility of other sub-series for future accruals of photographs that may be transferred in different formats (e.g. digital) or were organized by The Peak in different systems.

Restrictions on access:

The records are open with no access restrictions.

Conditions governing use:

The Peak Publications Society retains copyright in the images. The Archives may make copies available for private study or research purposes under the fair dealing provisions of Canada's Copyright Act, but use for any other purpose requires the permission of The Peak.

Finding aids:

See the note on Finding aids in sub-series 1.
