Note

Greg Evans (1951-2018) was a British Columbia heritage professional and historian of beer and brewing in BC.

Evans was born on January 31, 1951 in Nanaimo BC to parents Vera and Frank Evans. The family moved shortly afterwards to Victoria, where Evans attended Oak Bay Senior Secondary School. He completed high school in 1969, then studied at the University of Victoria (UVic), graduating with a Bachelor of Arts degree in History in 1973. In Victoria, he began working in the heritage sector at the Maritime Museum of BC. For several years in the mid 1970s Evans moved to London (UK), working in public relations for the firm Radiomobile. Returning to Victoria, he joined the Royal British Columbia Museum (RBCM) in 1978. Evans met and married fellow historian Linda Eversole in the 1980s, and they had a daughter, Machala. Evans and Eversole separated in 2003. Evans later married Susan Woods in 2005.

In 1985, while continuing to work at RBCM, Evans entered the Master's program in History at UVic. His Master's thesis, *The Vancouver Island Brewing Industry: 1858-1917,* was completed in 1991. Following his MA, Evans continued to work in the heritage field. He left RBCM in 1992, moving over to Vancouver around 1994 to become Executive Director of the Vancouver Museum. He returned to Victoria in 2002 as Executive Director of the Maritime Museum of BC, and in 2011 he went on to serve as the Municipal Archivist of Esquimalt.

Post-thesis, Evans continue to actively pursue research on the history of beer and brewing, accumulating research materials and sharing his knowledge. He published articles and gave numerous public talks, presentations, and media interviews. He consulted on a number of history-themed projects for breweries and brewpubs, and he was historical interpretive consultant for the Arbutus Greenway Residential Project in Vancouver that redeveloped the old Vancouver Breweries site on Arbutus Street in 1999. In the early 2000s, Evans joined his wife Eversole in Legacy Heritage Consultants. Their projects included Brewer's Gold, a travelling exhibit created for the Chilliwack Museum and Archives that examined the history of the hops industry in BC and won the BC Museums Association's Award of Merit in 2005.

Evans was an active participant in the Victoria and British Columbia chapters of the Campaign for Real Ale Society (CAMRA), and he was an organizer of Victoria's Great Canadian Beer Festival in its early years (1993-1996). He promoted brewing history education, developing courses through UVic and UBC's continuing education programs. He delivered guest lectures and keynote addresses, conducted the annual Beer School classes during Victoria's Beer Week, and from 2006 created and led an annual Tall Sails and Ales Cruise with Maple Leaf Adventures, a six-day sailing tour of the Gulf Islands focussing on BC breweries and brewing history.

In 2011 Evans reached agreement with RBCM to produce a multi-volume book, *The History of Beer Brewing in British Columbia,* that would update his thesis and expand its focus to the entire province. He continued to work on the project until his death, but it was not completed. No manuscript (paper or digital) survives, though outlines and fragments can be found throughout his files.

Evans passed away on December 3, 2018. He was remembered for his humour, story-telling, vast knowledge of and passion for the history of beer and brewing. He was once asked, in an email exchange with fellow beer writer Joe Wiebe, what they should put as his job title for a piece he was preparing. "My title?" Evans replied, "Besides 'a fabulous guy' just say brewing historian if you like. I guess that's what I am."

Custodial history

The records were transferred to the Archives in two accessions. Following Evans' death in 2018, the executor of his estate (wife Susan Woods) transferred the bulk of the records to the Campaign for Real Ale Society of Victoria (CAMRA Victoria) before her own death in July 2019. CAMRA then donated the records to SFU Archives in December 2021. These materials were arranged and described by the Archives in June 2022.

But at the time of his death, Evans was living with his father, Frank Evans. Frank Evans passed away in July 2019, shortly after Susan Woods, and a separate set of files were found in his home. These were transferred by Evans' first wife, Linda Eversole, and their daughter, Machala Eversole, to the Royal British Columbia Museum (RBCM) in July 2019. In January 2023 RBCM transferred these records to SFU Archives. Files were integrated into existing series; see Appendix A in the pdf finding aid for the file list.

Notes

Title notes

- Source of title proper: Fonds title based on the name of the records creator.

Arrangement

The initial arrangement was done in June 2022, the archivist arranging the fonds into series based on the activities which generated the records. Evans' original file titles have been retained. There was a fair volume of loose, unfolded material; these are indicated in file descriptions that include "loose papers" in the title. File numbers were assigned based on chronological or alphabetical order (depending on the series). A further accrual was later received and integrated into existing series (January-February 2023). As a result, series no longer have a purely alphabetical or chronological order, and file numbering sometimes appears out of sync.

Location of originals

The fonds includes copies of documents and photographs that Evans obtained from other archives, museums and libraries. Where these have been digitized by the Archives (or were transferred in digital form), the location and identifiers of the originals will be given in the file.

Alternative form available

The Archives is committed to digitizing Evans' research materials and making them available online through SFU AtoM, subject to copyright and privacy restrictions.

Scope - Records with high value for digitization will reflect Evans' research activities and / or contain information about breweries and BC beer history. Records that relate mainly to Evans' personal or professional activities or contain large amounts of third-party personal information will not be digitized. All of series 3 will be digitized, with more selective digitization for the remaining series. The Archives estimates that when completed, about 80% of the fonds will be digitized.

Formats - Files will be scanned as a single pdf files at 600 dpi. Photos and other graphic materials in a given file may also be scanned separately as individual items, using tif format for preservation copies with jpg derivatives for access.

Permissions - Evans' research files include copies of original source documents held by other archival repositories. The Archives will seek repositories' permissions before uploading scans to SFU AtoM.

Redactions - Evans' research subjects were primarily brewers active in the 19th and early 20th centuries. These individuals have been deceased for more than 20 years and their information will not be redacted. The files also include correspondence and other information of Evans' contemporaries who may still be living or just recently deceased: brewers' descendants with whom he was in contact, as well as other brewing historians and colleagues. Their personal information - which mainly takes the form of telephone numbers, email and home addresses - will be redacted in all access copies made available online.

Timeline and progress - Files will be reviewed, digitized, redacted, permissions obtained, and uploaded to SFU AtoM by series; this finding aid will be updated as series are completed. As of February 2023, series 1-2 have been completed.

Restrictions on access

The bulk of the files are open for access in the Archives reading room without restriction. A small number of files are marked "pending review"; these may contain third-party personal or financial information. Researchers can request access and an archivist will review the records more closely to determine their access status. Digitized records may be redacted for incidental personal information of third parties (e.g. thesis supervisor signatures; correspondents' phone numbers, addresses, email addresses).

Conditions governing use

The donors of the fonds (CAMRA Victoria) retained their own copyright but agreed to make their materials available under a Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial license (CC BY-NC). However, this applies to only a small segment of the records (see e.g. series 7). The remaining records fall into three broad groups.

(i) Materials authored by Evans. SFU does not own copyright in this material; copyright most likely remains with the estate of his (now deceased) second wife, Susan Woods.

(ii) Materials authored by third parties. Some of this material will be in public domain, but much remains protected, with copyright owned by their original creators.

(iii) Copies of historical documentation (photos, textual records) held by other archives, libraries and museums. Evans requested and received copies, subject to terms and conditions of use. These agreements typically set out limits on his ability to make or distribute additional copies without the repository's permission (Evans' permissions correspondence is located in series 9).

For copyright-protected materials not owned by the donor (CAMRA Victoria), the Archives makes copies available for private study or research purposes under the fair dealing provisions of Canada's Copyright Act. Use for any other purpose may require the permission of the copyright owner.

SFU Archives can assist researchers in attempting to identify copyright owners, but it is the users' responsibility to contact owners and secure any required permissions.

As SFU Archives digitizes materials, it will attempt to identify those that are in public domain, as well as to identify and seek permissions from repositories with whom Evans had terms of use agreements.

Finding aids

Appendix 1 of the pdf finding aid includes a separate listing of the files comprising the 2023 accrual; files are intergrated into existing series.

Accruals

No further accruals are expected.

Other notes

- Publication status: published
- Level of detail: Full
- Status description: Draft
- Physical description: Photographs - the fonds includes ca. 200 photographs. These are distributed across virtually all series. Evans obtained copies of historical photographs from various archives, museums and libraries. He also acquired some original historical photographs and he took his own photos (e.g. of bottles or of photos held by interviewees). Many prints were interfiled by Evans with related textual records in subject or project files; photos that were stored loose or in separate binders or folders have been brought together in series 9. Evans also digitized many of the prints and incorporated the images into the presentation slides in series 5.
- Physical description: Digital materials - the fonds included 5 thumb drives. This material consisted of presentation slides (ppt and pptx), scanned images Evans created of photographs and graphics (mostly jpg), and some word processing documents (doc, docx). Images and slides that were organized into folders for presentations have been integrated into series 5. The remaining images were placed by the archivist in series 9. Most of the digitized images were low-resolution. They have been retained, but are presented in thumbnail "contact sheet" form. Where the initial prints survived in the fonds, they will be re-digitized by the Archives at a higher resolutions; where no analog version survived, Evans' own low-res scans are available. Consult the reference archivist for access.

The series includes a paper and digitized copy of the thesis (files 18-20 and 21 respectively); two course papers that set out the program of study (files 2-3); chapter drafts and notes, including materials for a chapter on labour ("The Workplace") that was omitted in the final thesis (file 10); and administrative records relating to Evans' enrolment in the Master's program (file 1).

Records include notes and working papers, essays, draft chapters, and thesis; correspondence, transcripts, and letters of recommendation.

Files are arranged chronologically.

Series F-316-2: Book project files

Date: 2011-2016 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

Series consists of records relating to Evan's book project. In 2011, Evans reached agreement with the Royal British Columbia Museum (RBCM) to produce a series of books under the working title *The History of Beer Brewing in British Columbia*. The work was initially planned as three separate volumes: *The Pioneer Years, 1858-1920 (Part 1)*; *The Years of Consolidation, 1920-1982 (Part 2)*; and *A Renaissance of Brewing, 1982-present (Part 3)*. A revision of the agreement in 2016 narrowed the scope to just the first two volumes. Evans continued to work on the project up to his death, but the manuscripts were not completed and no copies survive.

This series brings together a number of files relating to the book project. Records includes outlines for the project and the publishing agreement with RBCM (files 1-2); correspondence, notes, working papers, progress checklists, invoices, bibliographies and reference materials. Reference material includes works by Lynn Pearson, "Towers of Strength: Brewery Architecture at Home and Abroad" (paper given at the Victorian Society at Young's Brewery in London in Feb 2006) and Derrek Eberts, "To Brew or Not to Brew: A Brief History of Beer in Canada" (*Manitoba History*, vol. 54, Feb. 2007).

While there are no surviving manuscripts for the book, it seems likely that many fragments do exist in the form of the multi-page profiles of individual breweries that are found in many of the "brewery files" in series 3.

Two files placed in series 9, Photographs, labels and graphics reference the book project and contain correspondence relating to permissions for use of photographs in the book. Much of the materials in series 3 was accumulated in the course of Evans' work on the book.

Series F-316-3: Brewing history research files

Date: [198-]-2017 (accumulation) (date of creation)

Date: 1859-2017 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

Series consists of Evans' research materials relating to BC brewing history. A large number of the files date back to Evans' work on his thesis (1985-1991), but he continuously added new material to old files and created new files in the course of his ongoing research.

Records includes Evans' notes and working papers, correspondence, speaking notes for public talks; interview notes and biographical sketches of brewers and brewery profiles; copies of advertisements, beer labels, photographs, maps, fire insurance plans, drawings, and floor plans; copies and transcriptions of newspaper and periodical articles, excerpts from publications (books, websites); and copies of archival documents, the originals of which are held by other repositories.

Two types of dates have been given to most files in the series: "dates of creation" and "dates of document". "Creation" dates are based on date of accumulation by Evans. Many of the working papers and notes by Evans are undated, while documents that are dated are often reproductions of older, historical records that he had copied by the repositories he visited. This makes it difficult to determine the precise dates on which files were opened or closed. Files dated [198-]-[199-] are thought to belong to the thesis period; files dated [198-]-[201-] originated in the thesis research but continued to be added to; other ranges are given where more precise dates of accumulation seem possible based on file contents (e.g. Evans' own correspondence). The "dates of document" given at the sub-series and file levels refers to the dates of the original documents that Evans copied.

The series is arranged into ten sub-series:

- * BC brewing industry: thematic subject files (sub-series 1)
- * Brewers' files (sub-series 2)
- * Brewery files: Victoria (sub-series 3)
- * Brewery files: Nanaimo and North Vancouver Island (sub-series 4)
- * Brewery files: Vancouver and Lower Mainland (sub-series 5)
- * Brewery files: Thompson-Okanagan (sub-series 6)

- * Brewery files: Cariboo, Northern BC and Yukon (sub-series 8)

Arrangement:

The files have been organized by the archivist into series based on their contents, with three main groupings: (i) General thematic subject files (sub-series 1); most of these originate in the thesis period, often with later additions. (ii) Files about individual brewers and breweries of the 19th and early 20th centuries (sub-series 2 through 9); these incorporate much of the material Evans gathered for his later book project and have been organized geographically. (iii) Files containing information about the BC craft brewing revival that began in the 1980s (sub-series 10).

Location of originals:

Series include copies of records that Evans obtained from other repositories, who continue to hold the originals. Where files are available in digital form (through digitization or born-digital transfer), file descriptions identify the repositories that hold the original source documents and their reference codes, when these are known.

Alternative form available:

The Archives plans to digitize most of this material. As materials are digitized, descriptions will be updated.

Restrictions on access:

Files are open for access in the Archives' reading room. Digitized access copies may be redacted to remove incidental personal information of third parties (e.g. addresses, phone numbers, email addresses of Evans' correspondents).

Photographs are distributed across sub-series; locations noted in the sub-series descriptions. The born-digital records consist of a single folder (F-316-3-1-0-51) containing draft profiles of a number of brewers and breweries (original formats: doc, docx).

Subseries F-316-3-1: BC brewing industry: thematic subject files

Date: [198-]-2017 (accumulation) (date of creation)

Date: 1869-2017 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

Sub-series consists of subject files relating to the history of beer and brewing in BC. Most (but not all) of the files in this sub-series were started by Evans in the course of his thesis work, and many were subsequently continued in his post-thesis research.

Topics documented include the establishment and chronology of various BC breweries; historical brewing processes, equipment, supplies, production and distribution; brewery personnel and labour relations; advertising, public houses and saloons; BC's temperance movement, prohibition, post-prohibition liquor legislation, and debates and plebiscites around liquor licensing in the province.

Records includes Evans' notes and working papers, interview notes, and correspondence; newspaper clippings (photocopied) and periodical articles, book reviews, printed web pages and bibliographies; and images of beer bottles and labels. Includes a copy of *Home Made Beverages by a Practical Brewer* (1919) and old brewing recipes (file 35); copies of census records, sessional papers of Parliaments and tables of trade and navigation (statistics), labour agreements (1916-1937) and union dues books file 28), reports and unpublished papers.

Subseries F-316-3-2: Brewers' files

Date: [198-]-[201-] (accumulation) (date of creation)

Date: 1859-[201-] (date of creation)

Scope and content:

Sub-series consists of research materials relating to individual BC brewers or brewing families. The sub-series originated in three very large files Evans maintained, titled *Brewers A-H, Brewers I-P,* and *Brewers Q-Z*. In each, material was clipped together by brewer with a covering sheet with the brewer's name. To facilitate access, the archivist has created a separate file for each brewer's bundle. File 1 (Brewers A-Z) contains the cover sheets for brewers for which no material was accumulated.

For some brewers, Evans seems to have moved the bundles to the associated brewery files in sub-series 2 through 9 - e.g. bundles for Charles Doering and Otto Marstrand appear in the file on the Doering and Marstrand Brewery (F-316-3-5-0-7). All such bundles have been left in place in the brewery file where Evans moved them.

Records includes Evans' correspondence, notes, working papers, and biographical sketches; copies of census records, marriage records, death certificates and obituaries, family search records, will and probate records; and copies and excerpts from newspaper stories and articles.

- Photographic materials (documentary form)

Arrangement:

Files arranged alphabetically by brewer's name. Note that file 68 (Bridgman) is out of order due to numbering error during processing. File numbers for later accruals ([file 82] (f-316-3-2-0-82) and 83) are out of alphabetical order.

Location of originals:

Sub-series include copies of documents and photographs that Evans obtained from other repositories, who continue to hold the originals. Where known, the repositories that hold the original source records and the repository's reference codes are given in the file descriptions.

Alternative form available:

The sub-series has been partially digitized as of March 2024: files 1-10 and file 82 are available as consolidated pdf access copies. The Archives plans to complete digitization of all files in the future.

Scope and content:

Series consists of files relating to the hops industry in British Columbia. Sub-series 1 brings together Evans' general research files on hops growing. Much of this material was accumulated as Evans worked on "Brewer's Gold", a travelling exhibit on the history of hops in BC. [Sub-series 2] (f-316-4-2) consists of the exhibit project files. For record types, see sub-series descriptions.

Subseries F-316-4-1: Hops: research subject files

Date: 1989-2014 (date of creation)

Date: 1866-2014 (dates of document) (date of creation)

Scope and content:

Sub-series consists of research materials relating to the BC hops industry. Some of this material goes back to Evans' work on his thesis in the late 1980s, but much appears to have been accumulated in the context of his work on the "Brewers Gold" project, a travelling exhibit on the history of hops in BC (see sub-series 2).

Topics documented include the development of the industry in various regions of BC (the Saanich peninsula, Squamish, the Fraser Valley, the Okanagan); prominent BC hops growers and associations including the Canadian Hops Growers Ltd., Henry Ord Hops Dealers, John I. Hass Hop Company, the Horth family, William Towner, Thomas Lee, the Downey family, and Isaac Cloake; Indigenous involvement in the industry; production techniques, labour relations and strikes; Japanese Canadian and Indo-Canadian growers and pickers, including the use of Japanese Canadian workers during World War II and the Japanese Canadian internment.

Records include Evans' correspondence, notes and working papers, and speaking notes; interview notes, and some interview transcripts (file 16); copies of newspaper and magazine articles, excerpts from books and publications; family history and genealogical information relating to BC hop growers; and Evans' paper on the "Origins of the Hops Industry in the Pacific Northwest" (undated, file 12).

Archival materials found in the sub-series include photocopies of business correspondence, minutes, memoranda of agreement, and reports relating to the Canadian Hops Growers Ltd and Henry Ord Hops Dealers; original payrolls cheques of the Canadian Hops Growers Ltd from 1931; and an original business card of William Towner, Pioneer Hop Grower, North Saanich.

Publications include the full 1990 issue of *Orchard*, the journal of the British Columbia Orchard Industry Museum (file 9).

Files are arranged alphabetically.

Subseries F-316-4-2: Brewer's Gold travelling exhibit files

Date: 1996-2003 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

Sub-series consists of Evans' project files relating to "Brewer's Gold: A History of the Hop Growing Industry in British Columbia," a travelling exhibit using photographs, artefacts and text. The exhibit launched in 2003 and travelled for several years to cities throughout North America, receiving the BC Museums Association's Award of Merit in 2005.

The exhibit was organized by the Chilliwack Museum and Archives, but it was also a collaboration involving the Secwepemc Museum and Heritage Park in Kamloops, Coqualeetza Cultural Education Centre, Stó:l̓ Nation, Yakima Valley Museum, and the American Hops Museum. It received grant funding from the Department of Canadian Heritage, with additional sponsorship from CAMRA Victoria, the Great Canadian Beer Festival, Hopunion USA, Spinnakers Brewpub and Guesthouse (Victoria), and the Chilliwack Community Development Initiative. Ron Denman (Director, Chilliwack Museum and Archives), Ken Favrholt (Director, Secwepemc Museum and Heritage Park) and Evans supervised the project, while Evans and Linda Eversole undertook much of the research and writing. Records includes grant proposal, correspondence, notes and working papers; copies of archival descriptions and finding aids, artefact lists, photographs and illustrations; interview transcripts; copies of newspaper and periodical articles; and exhibit storyline, draft panel text, and exhibit-case design documentation.

Series F-316-5: Public talks and publications

Date: 1993-2017 (accumulation) (date of creation)

Date: 1858-2017 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

Series consists of records relating to Evans' public speaking engagements and his writings on the history of beer and brewing. Evans' public presentations on beer go back to 1987; while still working on his thesis, Evans gave a series of talks on the history of brewing on Vancouver Island (The Devil Hop tour), organized by the Royal BC Museum and presented to six different Island communities. By the 2000s, Evans had developed a repertoire of presentations he could adapt to various contexts.

Activities documented include a workshop ("Ale and Hearty") on the history of beer that Evans developed for the University of Victoria continuing education; guest lectures for UVic History classes; Evans' Beer School classes, part of the annual Victoria Beer Week; contributions to Victoria's 150th Anniversary symposium (2012); participation in the *Heritage Vancouver Talks Dirty!* series (2000); talks at beer and food pairing events; and keynote addresses delivered to meetings of professional associations and home brew clubs.

Evans' published writings found in the series include copies of "Pass the Jack O'Hearts: A History of Brewing in Victoria" (*Museums Roundup*, no. 232, Fall 2005); and "The Beer Brewers," a chapter in Nancy Oke and Robert Griffin (eds), *Feeding the Family: 100 Years of Food and Drink in Victoria* (Victoria: Royal British Columbia Museum, 2011).

Records include correspondence; speaking notes, drafts, lecture outlines, presentation slides, and photographs; event brochures and programs, press releases, course posters and course outlines; copies of newspaper and periodical articles; and reading lists and glossaries.

Files are arranged chronologically.

Access points:

- Records in electronic form (born-digital) (documentary form)

Location of originals:

Series include copies and images of records that Evans obtained from other repositories, who continue to hold the originals. Where files are available in digital form (through digitization or born-digital transfer), file descriptions identify the repositories that hold the original source documents and give the repositories' own reference codes, when these are known.

Alternative form available:

Series includes both paper and digital files. For some talks, Evans retained his PowerPoint slides in digital format (ppt, pptx); see files 4, 17, 20, 24, 26, 29, 31-33. These are images only (no text); and Evans also often retained a folder of the low-resolution scans (typically jpgs) that he used as images in the slides. But not all images were always included in the slides; and the slides sometimes contain images not found in the images folder. The Archives has made separate pdf access copies of both slides and images where available. The original PowerPoint and jpg files are available on request; consult the reference archivist for more information.

Restrictions on access:

Files are open for access in the Archives' reading room. Digitized access copies may be redacted to remove the personal information of third parties (e.g. addresses, phone number, and email addresses of Evans' correspondents).
