Note

Judith Rose Margolick was born in Montréal, Québec in 1947. She studied with Elsie Salomons, Seda Zaré and Sonia Chamberlain, and completed intensive summer training at the American School of Ballet, the Banff Centre, and the National Ballet School. From 1962 to 1965, she attended the Royal Ballet School in London. Twenty-five years of performing with dance companies followed, including with the Sadler's Well's Royal Ballet touring company; Les Grands Ballets Canadiens; Ballets de Genève; Bat-Dor Dance Company of Israel; Festival Ballet of Canada; and Ballet Rambert in London.

Judith began choreographing professionally in 1974, when she created Fusion for the Oakland Ballet where she was guesting as a soloist. Her 1976 Four Working Songs performed by members of Les Grands Ballets Canadiens led to her Chalmers Award for Excellence in Choreography. In 1976, after moving from London to Vancouver, BC, she began an extensive period of freelance performing and choreographing. She created over a hundred new works for dance, theatre, film and opera across the country and abroad, including works for Dancemakers, Royal Winnipeg Ballet, Pacific Ballet Theatre, Goh Ballet, Vancouver Opera, Les Grands Ballets Canadiens, Les Ballet Jazz, the Shaw Festival, Stratford Festivals, the Banff Centre, Nederlands Dans Theater, and the National Ballet of Portugal. In 1978, Judith was awarded Canada's other major choreographic award, the Clifford E. Lee.

In 1979 Judith created the Judith Marcuse Dance Projects Society, the organization that would serve as the administrative structure for her work over the coming decades. In 1984 Judith and her colleagues launched The Repertory Dance Company of Canada, a more permanent touring ensemble, which toured nationally and abroad over the following 17 years. Choreography was by Judith and many others, including choreographers such as Lar Lubavitch, Mark Morris, Ohad Naharin, Robert North, Christopher House, Danny Grossman, Grant Strate, Michael Trent and Serge Bennethan.

During the 1990s, Judith began to experiment with new structures and expanded her interest in producing festivals, cross-discipline arts production, and community-engaged creation. She produced the KISS Project, a multi-arts outreach and education project that was presented over several seasons, and collaborated with teenagers to reflect their worlds through their own sensibilities: the ICE, FIRE and EARTH projects. JMP received hundreds of letters from youth, parents and professional youth workers commending the collaborative projects. Expanding upon her socially engaged artwork, Judith spearheaded The Earth Project International Symposium in 2004 and the EARTH: The World Urban Festival in 2006, as well as publishing case studies on socially engaged art, and co-directing a video documentary called Dancing through Pain. She has also taught, presented and consulted overseas (eventually including Pakistan, India, Vietnam, Colombia, Ecuador, Japan, Finland, Holland, Ireland, South and West Africa and in the USA), mentored and taught hundreds of artists and students, and sat on many boards.

In 2000, Judith received an honorary doctor of laws degree from Simon Fraser University for her contributions to the arts. In 2009, she was recipient of the Jacqueline Lemieux Prize given by the Canada

Council and, in 2011, she was elected a Senior Fellow of Ashoka International. In 2008, JMP entered into a partnership with Simon Fraser University (SFU) to create the International Centre of Art for Social Change (ICASC), a global hub for professional development and research on art for social change. In 2013, the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada awarded ICASC a grant of $2.5 million for the five-year research initiative. In 2016, she launched a unique, two-year Master's of Education program in Art for Social Change at Simon Fraser University.

Custodial history

The records were in the custody of Judith Marcuse until their acquisition by Simon Fraser University Library, Special Collections and Rare Books in 2017, with two accruals following in 2018 and 2019.

Scope and content

Fonds consists of personal, administrative and production records for Judith Marcuse and her production company Judith Marcuse Projects (also known as Repertory Dance Company, Judith Marcuse Dance Company, DanceArts, Judith Marcuse Dance Projects Society). Spanning from 1956-2019, the fonds documents Marcuse's life as a dancer and work choreographing, directing and producing dance and multi-disciplinary performing arts projects and festivals. The fonds predominately contains business records (particularly requests for grants and donations), promotional materials, media clippings, photographs, correspondence, sound recordings, and moving images.

This fonds consists of four main series (some containing sub-series) - Series 1: Personal records (1956-2018); Sub-series 1: Records created by others (1977-2009); Series 2: Commissions or consultations (1966-[2015?]); Series 3: Events, organizations and councils (2002-2018); and Series 4: SFU and International Centre of Art for Social Change (1996-2019) which contains 4 sub-series – Sub-series 1: Administrative records (1996-2019); Sub-series 2: Financial records (2007-2010); Sub-series 3: Grants/fundraising records (2008-2012) and Sub-series 4: Promotional records: ([2006?]-2009). The fonds also contains one sous-fonds (some containing sub-series).

Notes

Title notes

- Source of title proper: Title is based on the contents of the fonds

Immediate source of acquisition

This collection was donated to Simon Fraser University by Judith Marcuse in 2017, with two accruals following in 2018 and 2019.

Arrangement

This fonds was received in the form of mostly administrative and promotional records in files and boxes. Most context or discernible organizational system was lost prior to donation. Per the request of the donor the archivists imposed order on the records to create clear series. When possible original order was maintained. At least 40% of the collection was comprised of duplicate records and promotional material (such as posters, flyers, programs, etc.), so processing archivists were involved in the weeding and subsequent arrangement and naming of files. When the existing file title did not accurately reflect the contents within, the archivist imposed a title as indicated by the presence of square brackets. Processing took place in several stages with involvement from several archivists. Personal files were separated from those of the Judith Marcuse Projects (JMP), and JMP was then divided into series based on project (in alphabetical order) with standardized assigned sub-series. Files were arranged in chronological order for ease of research and access. Photographs and audiovisual material comprise a significant portion of this collection; while the photographs are not itemized, most of the videotaped performances are cataloged in a separate file list that can be obtained upon request to the archivist.

Restrictions on access

Restrictions on financial records due to personal information, and on sound recordings, moving and still images due to intellectual property rights. Please contact the Archivist if you require access.

Finding aids

A box list and several spreadsheets are available, including a preliminary inventory of videotapes.

Accruals

Future accruals are possible

Subfonds MsC-181-1: Judith Marcuse Projects

Date: 1978-[before 2015] (date of creation)

Scope and content:

The majority of records from this fonds are located in Sous-fonds 1: Judith Marcuse Projects (1978-[before 2015]), the content of which predominately consists of business records (particularly requests for grants and donations), promotional materials, media clippings, photographs, correspondence, sound recordings, and moving images associated with various projects conceived and executed over the years.

This sous-fonds has been divided into 9 series – some general and some project-specific. For project-specific series a set of 5 standardized sub-series were assigned (when appropriate) in order to better facilitate access. The 9 series are – Series 1: Administrative records – general (1978-2010); Series 2: Air project (2006); Series 3: Earth project (2001-2009); Series 4: Financial records – general (1981-2010); Series 5: Fire project (1998-2009); Series 6: ICE project (1994-2006); Series 7: Kiss

Project (1992-2001); Series 8: Productions/performance records – general (1979-[2001?]); and Series 9: Promotional records – general (1971-2009).

Series MsC-181-1-1: Administrative records - general

Date: 1978-2010 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

This series is primarily comprised of business records related to the general business activities of Judith Marcuse Projects (and all associated identities), including contracts, annual reports and meeting minutes. In some cases there is overlap with a file containing general documents as well as project-specific ones; in those instances the file was assigned to the series appropriate to the majority of content.
