

Special Topics in Sustainable Community Development

Sustainable Community Develop. 410

Section: C100

Term: 2012 Summer

Instructor:

Discussion Topics: This course will focus on contemporary Canadian housing policy and residential growth management issues, with emphasis on the role of local government and the community in shaping housing options. The course will also examine the role of affordable and appropriate housing as an essential component of community sustainability, and how housing can be a tool to promote community economic development. The objective of the course is to gain an understanding of a range of housing policy and affordable housing responses and how they relate to the principles of community economic development.

Grading:

Required Texts:

Recommended Texts:

Materials/Supplies: - Course Reader

SFU students must indicate Pickup or Mail when enrolling in the Student Information System (SIS), in order to receive the required course material listed above.

Prerequisite/Corequisite: CED or SCD 301 or permission of the director for SCD. Students who have taken CED or SCD 410 with the same topic for credit may not take this course for further credit.

Notes:

This outline is derived from a course outline repository database that was maintained by SFU Student Services and the University's IT Services Department. The database was retired in 2014 and the data migrated to SFU Archives in 2015.